4LNS was founded by a highly skilled team of professionals committed to delivering amazing! Our principals have over 40 years of experience providing program management support to numerous emergent quick reaction capabilities, specialized technology solutions and support to capability development and planning, programming and budgeting processes. Our core competencies are aligned to:

Project Management: We offer a full scope of project management services, identifying requirements and resourcing, measuring performance, and transitioning to sustainable programs:

- Currently support US Army clients in formal requirement documentation, Planning, Programming, Budgeting, and Execution process, and strategic and operational planning.

Operations Support: We provide expert knowledge in concept development, capability and requirement analysis, current operations support, training, and specialized focus areas in technology and intelligence.

- Currently support US Army and US Navy clients in capability development and Joint Capabilities Integration and Development System documentation, training development, and contingency resourcing.

Diverse Software Solutions: Our 4LNS software team has been a respected leader in comprehensive custom software solutions. Our team of solution architects, research scientists and developers have backed the biggest names in the world, creating software for virtually every platform - including custom hardware.

- Currently support US Army clients in website development, application development and online training program development.

Specialized Technology: Our team specializes in strategically equipping private and defense contracts with a wide range of incredibly powerful technologies, including augmented reality and virtual reality.

- Currently support US Army clients in developing training programs using augmented reality, virtual reality environments, and object recognition software.
